Subject: And this is punishment for a monopoly?...

Dear Sir/Madam,

Making Microsoft place computers in under-privileged schools is a nice idea, but how will it break up their monopoly? It will only encourage it. Did the people at Microsoft suggest this solution?..

(Maybe having them buy Macs would be a better solution.)

An even better solution would be to split the company and make them operate under some very strict federal guidelines.

Thanks for the time,
Edward Tonner
